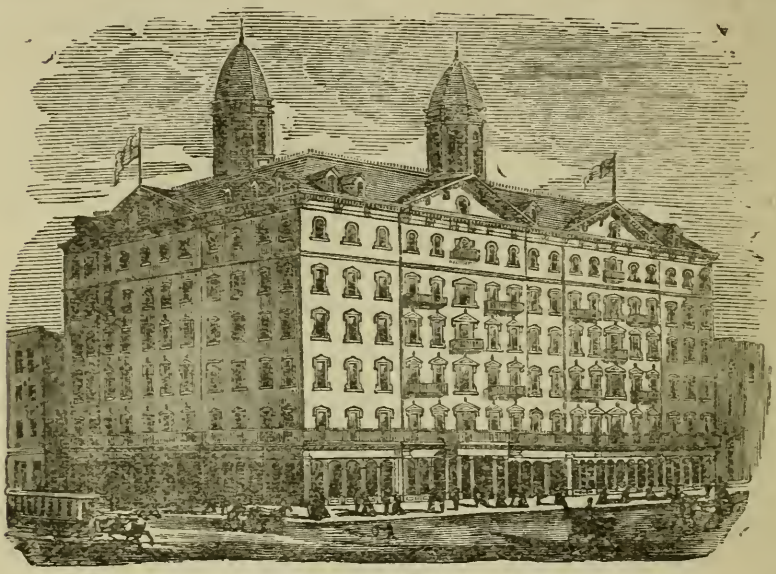
THE EUTAW HOUSE,

Cor. Baltimore and Eutaw Sts., Baltimore, Md.

[41-42]

C. S. WOOD, - - - PROPRIETOR.



IT IS A FIRST-CLASS HOTEL.

Good business in hotels is a sure indication that trade is active. Hotel men keep up with the times. Col. C. S. Wood, of the Eutaw House, has had an eye to what is coming, and has put his popular and commodious hotel in first-class order. For weeks he has had upholsterers, painters, paperhangers and others who know how to put a new face on a building inside and out, at work renovating, refitting and refurnishing the house. A personal inspection will show that the hotel has been greatly improved and that no expense has been spared in the work. His object has been to make the hotel even more attractive and comfortable, if possible, than it has ever been. In the large halls and parlors new brilliant glass chandeliers, with handsome ornaments, have been hung, which, when lighted, show off the pretty tints of the new wall paper, which has been selected with much taste and put on by one of the best paperers in the city. The whole house has been improved and beautified from top to bottom. The large parlors and bedrooms on the first floor have been supplied with new carpets, chairs, etc. The apartments on the second floor have received the same attention. Private baths can be enjoyed in the rooms, and running water, hot and cold, is conveniently at hand. The third floor is not less attractive. The designs in the furniture and paper on the floors are all different, each showing a pleasant contrast to the other. The rooms of the regular boarders, mostly on the fourth floor, have not been forgotten. In the new dress and appointments they look very cosy and neat, and quite homelike for bachelors or married people. All the halls have been recarpeted and the walls repapered, and the wood work made bright by paint. Travelers are promised every comfort and the best food the markets can supply. All the modern conveniences will be found in the hotel. The Howard House, one block east of the Eutaw, on Howard Street, also under the management of Col. Wood, will be treated in the same way as the Eutaw. It will be renovated throughout. Both hotels are within a few blocks of the B. & O. station, and easily reached by horse cars from the other railroad stations, steamboat wharves and any part of the city or suburbs. They are brilliant at night with electric lights. Street cars pass every few minutes on both streets.
